PARKS WILL WIN OUT

COUNCIL WILL NOT REDUCE WEST PARK AREAS.

Knockers Don a New Disguise and Are Now "Modificationists"-They Are for Parks, but Want Smaller Ones.

The friends of parks and progress will win a decisive victory at the meeting of the council to-night, for every indication points to the defeat of the ordinances providing for the modification of the plans parks. These ordinances were introduced at the request of the park board for the reason that the board had decided that the tax of 17 per cent on the assessed valuation of the land in the West park district was excessive and that a curtailment of the plans whereby about $500,000 decrease fected would more nearly equalize the tax ation of the various park districts. The argument of the park board is accepted as logical and sound by a most of the people of the West park dis and if the plans had to be made again, this is what would be done, the proceedings, tedious and exphase been gone through with. The delays have stretched out the time the proceedings, tedious and explare been gone through with. The as delays have stretched out the time for three years, during which the property of the people in the affected districts has been tied up. The people of the district have been compelled to pay park tax levies for maintenance of parks which have not yet been established. The two cases are at the doors of the supreme court. The long wait is about ended. The court has upheld the park laws in the North Terrace case, and only the formality of denying a rehearing remains to be gone through with before the final seal of the court of last resort in the state will be set upon the park projects which have been indorsed by overwhelming vote of the people.

It is the opinion of a majority of the people affected that the mistake was made originally when the cost of the two parks was made nearly twice that of the parks in either of the other park districts. But having gone thus far, the people who will have to pay the bills are of the opinion that it is wiser, cheaper and above all more progressive and patriotic to see the thing through than to the up the property for another three or five years, with the very probable result that the next condemnation jury will assess the reduced areas at as much if not more than the areas condemned three years ago when values were much lower than they will be three years from now.

The opponents of parks have domned the disguise of "modificationists," and instead of openly opposing all parks they are pleading for a revision and a new deal. All sorts of wild and visionary schemes, which can never be carried out without volcanic changes in legislation, are being put forward in the hope that the people will bite at some of the schemes and knock out the parks.

There will in all probability be two reports on the West Terrace and Penn Valley propositions to-night. Alderman Beardsiey and Batt will report against modifying the plans, while acting in entire good faith in asking a reduction, will not shed any tears if the reduction is REWARD FOR THEIR LABORS. Labor Day Prizes Given to Contestants Last Night at Labor ' Hendquarters.

"This is it, gentlemen, this it it," said President M. F. Bradley, of the Industrial Council last night as he called to order about 300 members of the tinners' and retail clerks' unions at labor headquarters. tail clerks' unions at labor headquarters.
"You all know there was a prize offered for the union that made the best appearance in the Labor day parade. What that prize was to be the Labor day committee never has told you and when the unions so well represented here to-night were decided by the judges to have tied for the honor the Labor day committee was obliged to devise a plan for giving you both a prize. Gentlemen, this is it. I congratulate you singly and collectively upon your time appearance in the Labor day parade and upon the honor you have won for your unions. I trust that you may enjoy the evening the Labor day committee has the evening the Labor day committee has provided for you equally as well as you performed your duties on Labor day. Gentlemen, again I inform you, the evening is yours. This is your prize. This is it." Mr. Bradley referred to a corner of the hall which was well provided with good things to eat and drink and several boxes of circuit.

things to eat and drink and several boxes of cigars.

J. O. Walsh, grand marshal of the Labor day parade, made a speech congratulating the unions upon their good fortune in receiving a prize rewarding their efforts to make the Labor day parade a success.

J. Pierson responded on behalf of the clerks and John E. Bray on behalf of the timers. Several impromptu songs, dances and speeches were made and a hastily arranged cake walk decided the question of superiority of appearance left in dispute by the judges of the Labor day parade in favor of the clerks' union. favor of the clerks' union.

RELEASED FROM BONDAGE. Colored People of Kansas City, Kas. Celebrate at Kerr's Park-An

The colored people of Kansas City, Kas., and a large number from the Missouri side celebrated the emancipation of their race yesterday at Kerr's park. The street pa-rade which was to have started from James street and Central avenue at 10 o'clock in the morning, was postponed on account of the "Buffalo Bill" parade in Kansas City, Mo.

The crowd at the park, which began to assemble as early as 10 o'clock, numbered about 2,990 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at about 2,000 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the programme arranged was rendered. Several patriotic speeches were made by local orators. The various contests, such as bleycle racing, horse racing, jumping and throwing contests, were quite a source of amusement and the competition for the prizes was very warm. There was plenty of music and a good time was had by all in attendance.

In the evening an interesting entertainment was held at the Fifth Street opera house, and at the same time a social hop was in progress at the Armory hall, a block away. So the colored people did not lack for amusement. The crowd at the park and also at the opera house and Armory was orderly, no disturbance being reported.

The Lone Woman Traveler.

The Lone Woman Traveler.

The "new woman" doesn't propose to miss the delights of travel simply for lack of a protector. She knows how to take care of herself, and when she starts off on a little journey nowadays it isn't with the nervous dread that something's going to happen before she reaches her destination—if ever she does, but she proceeds at once to make herself comfortable and to thoroughly enjoy her little rub up against the outside world.

But although she rests secure in a delightful feeling of safety, it has never occurred to the general woman that "making her travel in safety" is a business all in itself.

She may have heard for example that her travel in safety" is a business all in itself.

She may have heard, for example, that the great New York Central railroad is the only route in the United States that is completely equipped with the world famous lock and block system of signals, but that doesn't mean anything to her until you explain that by this system every foot over which she travels is carefully and unceasingly watched and signaled day and night, that collision is practically impossible, because a train cannot enter a given block or section until the train ahead has passed out, and that even if there should be another train following on the same track the engineer knows all about it through the electric telegraph, which is part of the system, thus making assurance doubly sure.

If the lone woman happens to be going

doubly sure.

If the lone woman happens to be going to New York city she need have no dread of landing alone in the confusion of a big, strange place if she travels by the New York Central. All she has to do is to speak to one of the red-capped attendants—free service—who will carry her bag, answer her questions, and show her to cab, car, or elevated train.

questions, and show her to cab, car, or elevated train.

Another thing, she lands right in the heart of the city within a step of a dozen or more of its leading hotels—and she should bear in mind that this is the only railroad depot in all New York city.

The New York Central might aprly be called "the lone woman's route."—Fashfons.
